

DELIVERY INSTRUCTIONS

Steve's Station™ from Anthro

WELCOME

Hello! Thank you for choosing Anthro!

These instructions describe the delivery of Anthro's Steve's Station table. The table is bolted to its pallet and secured to a custom lifting frame to make it easy to transport. Proper delivery and removal of packaging will protect the table from damage.

If you have any questions or if we can help you in any way, please contact Anthro at 800.325.3841.

UNPACK THE TABLE

- Make sure you have enough space around the pallet to work. Allow about 8ft x 10ft plus space to stage accessories.
- Cut the strapping that secures the box to the pallet and remove the box. [Image A.]
- Locate and set aside the parts boxes so the customer can inventory their shipment.
- Using the 1/2" socket and ratchet, remove the four 5/16" hex bolts securing the table to the pallet: one in each of the two black stabilizer brackets against the worksurface and one in each of the triangular hand-holds in the wood braces.
- Flatten the side of the cardboard tray nearest the table's worksurface. Roll your two furniture dollies up to the pallet and tuck the side of the tray under the edge of your dollies. [Image B.]
- With one or two people on each end of the table, use the hand-holds on the wood lifting frame to lift the table onto the dollies. Tables weigh up to 450 lbs. Make sure you have enough people to safely perform this lift! [Image C.]
- The table is now ready to move to its installation site. Consult the table's Assembly Instructions for a step-by-step description of safe assembly of the table. [Image D.]

Warranty:
Steve's Station has a Lifetime Warranty against manufacturing on the table; five-year warranty on legs and electrical system.
Lamps, cords, and plugs are not warranted.
